Conference focus:

As producers of MARCOM, CEPISM's mission is to advance the marketing and communications disciplines in the non-profit and public sectors. This learning forum is just one of the many ways that we at CEPISM strive to move this mission forward. CEPISM's mantra is "Strategy before Tactics", which serves as the overarching theme and focus for the content at MARCOM. Marketing must be strategic, research-driven, outcome-based and user-centric. We'll cover content that reflects the rapid innovation and disruption in the marketing and communications fields. Our program will be delivered by a faculty of passionate, inspiring professionals.

Is MARCOM for Me?

MARCOM Annual Conference is a targeted educational opportunity for your whole organization. For managers and service delivery professionals from functional areas such as marketing, communications, community outreach, program management, social media marketing, web development, partnership development, revenue development, client services, policy development and social marketing.
